About the topic: In today’s digital age, we often find ourselves unsure about where our personal and confidential information is being distributed, stored, and manipulated. Who really have control over them? We are also concerned with who’s tracking us on-line and what if that predator is at our doorstep. How do we protect ourselves, or in some cases – disappear? For this presentation, we will become familiar with the concepts of social engineering, pretext, digital privacy and security, disinformation, virtual identity, and skip tracer.

About the speaker: Frank M. Ahearn is a global privacy expert who “disappears” individuals. He has spent most of his life tracking people down who did not want to be discovered and extracting gray area information for sale. Presently he works with individuals who have found themselves in precarious situations and need to disappear. He also utilizes deception to assist those who have encountered unfortunate digital issues. Frank is also the author of three privacy books: How to Disappear From Big Brother, The Digital Hit Man, and How to Disappear & Erase Your Digital Foot Prints.
