Ian started as an accidental technologist when his studies in Organizational Psychology lead him down a dark alley . . . into testing one of the first business Graphical User Interfaces in a secret lab. Over the following decades, He has helped launch, manage, and merge B2B service offerings that blend human expertise with software & increasingly intelligent data systems.

DESCRIPTION:

Digital Disruption is ON, so as the pace accelerates, organizations, teams and individuals need to pull together to radically shift digital learning and execution speed. This non-technical discussion aims to frame key digital business drivers and provoke discussion about pesky-yet-vital topics like citizen developers, and self-service BI that often fall between the cracks of clear organizational realms. Along the way, we will highlight some notable MS 365 capabilities spanning web-based collaboration, repeatable data integration, and even Machine Intelligence that may cause your organization to think differently about those areas in the future.

DINNER FEES:

$20 to cover for the dinner. Can also pay via Cash or check at the door. If you are planning to only attend the 7:30 PM free presentation, you do not need to RSVP.

Please RSVP on-line at https://www.meetup.com/AITP-LV by Sunday, September 16th.
